Pauley Says Two Others Heard Whole Conference with Ickes

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 7.—Edwin W. Pauley said today two other government officials were present during the entire conversation when Harold L. Ickes had charged Pauley with offering "the rawest proposition ever made to me."

President Truman's nominee for undersecretary of the Navy told reporters that he, Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national committee chairman and postmaster general, and OPA Chief Paul Porter left Ickes' office together after a conference Sept. 6, 1944.

Ickes has testified Pauley suggested to him at the conference that $300,000 in Democratic campaign funds could be raised from oil men, if the government did not press a suit for title to Tidelands oil areas. Pauley, who was then Democratic national treasurer, has denied this.

Ickes' Version
Ickes had said the proposal was made after Hannegan and Porter had left and when only Abe Fortas, former undersecretary of interior, was present. Fortas told the committee previously there had been discussion of the Tidelands issue and of contributions but he did not remember whether they had been linked.

Pauley's statement came after the senate naval committee, which has been considering his nomination nearly a month, recessed abruptly until tomorrow morning.

His account of the Ickes conference followed up a statement to newsmen in which he struck out at Ickes and others who say they are opposed to having an oil man in a top Navy post.

Pauley, a California oil operator, demanded to know "what is wrong" with oil men.

He asserted oil operators had made an excellent record during

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 7.—A proposal for firm but friendly and sympathetic dealings with the Soviet union despite growing strains came before the special post-war policy meeting of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America today.

The recommendation was embodied in a report approved by a section studying the churches in a world order last night and presented today to the closing general sessions of the three-day meeting of representatives of Protestant churches with 25,000,000 members.

"The problem of world order is complicated by the fact that nations differ in their religious, social, economic and political patterns," said the report, prepared under the chairmanship of John Foster Dulles, head of the council's commission on a just and durable peace and former adviser to Thomas E. Dewey, 1944 Republican presidential candidate.

Cannot Be Ignored
"This is particularly true in the case of the Soviet Union and the western democracies. We cannot ignore the tensions which arise from these differences."

Admitting "with humility" that the democracies' religious and political freedom had "not solved the social and economic problems of our society," the report continued:

"Our first task is to demonstrate that our Christian faith can give all men to enjoy a fullness of life to an extent which not only equals but surpasses that

Skipper Charges Ship Sent On 185-Day Pacific "Run Around"

By The Associated Press
TOKYO, March 7.—The merchantship Edwin Markham sailed from San Francisco "after we definitely knew the war was over," her skipper said today, carrying around the Pacific "for 185 days" war material "that somebody obviously wanted shipped out of the States rather than have it piled up there."

At one stage of its odyssey, the ship—with 25 others—was ordered from one side of Okinawa to the other, and "we understood this was for the purpose of hoodwinking a congressional committee into thinking we had just arrived," the skipper, Capt. C. C. Wright of Alameda, Calif., asserted.

The captain, corroborated by Chief Mate J. L. Mason of Redwood City, Calif., told this story in an interview:

"The ship, berthed at San Francisco, had loaded 2,000 tons of cargo by Aug. 15 when Emperor Hirohito made his surrender offer. After a delay of a week and many conferences we finally loaded 6,700 tons of miscellaneous cargo."

Puzzled by Load
"Some items were puzzling to me—camouflage netting, camouflage paint, iron stakes, land-mine markers and a lot of other stuff that somebody obviously wanted shipped out of the States rather than have it piled up there. . . . Vandals at LaRue school Tuesday night broke 12 windows in the school building and tore several seats loose from the floor in one of the high school classrooms, the sheriff's office reported today.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated estimated the damage at $50. They said stones had been thrown through at least 12 windows, the building entered and seats torn from the floor. Part of the flooring was ripped out with the seats, they reported.

PRESIDENT RETURNS TO WOE-FILLED DESK

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 7.—President Truman got back to his White House routine today and discovered trouble hadn't been taking away from the door in his brief absence.

Reports from Capitol Hill gave him no cheering welcome. The badly-mauled administration housing bill was on its last mile in the house, but stripped of its main provisions. Mr. Truman urged. And it looked more and more as though the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley for undersecretary of Navy would never reach the senate floor.

The labor scene provided a fresh headache in the threat of a nationwide railroad strike and in the new deadlock which has developed in the prolonged General Motors showdown.

And internationally, the state department added two more delicate problems with protests to Moscow over Soviet activities in Iran and Manchuria.

Mr. Truman came back to it all yesterday, flying in from Columbus, Ohio, after an address there to a meeting of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. He made the trip here in the Presidential plane, "Sacred Cow."

Red Cross Report Set for Tonight

With the weatherman doing his bit by providing a springlike setting, workers in the 1946 Red Cross Fund Campaign were on the job today signing up members in the Marion County Chapter in preparation for the first report meeting tonight.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 o'clock at campaign headquarters at 193 East Center street, Clarence Shockney, campaign chairman announced. All division chairmen and vice chairmen, ward and precinct chairmen, and heads of rural groups are expected to be present to make a report on their work.

The drive officially got under way last Friday, the date set by the Red Cross for the national campaign to raise one hundred million dollars to carry on the work. While no official figures have been received at the campaign headquarters, indications are that favorable reports will be heard at tonight's meeting.

U. S. FIRMNESS NOT AIMED AT RUSSIA ALONE

Leaders Cite New Toughness with Spain, Argentina as Well as Reds.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 7.—This country's newly-stressed emphasis on blunt talk in world affairs has some American diplomatic officials worried lest the policy appear aimed exclusively at Russia.

These officials made a point of noting that the sting of frank words has been felt in diametrically opposite camps—that is, in Spain and Argentina, as well as in the Soviet Union.

The whole idea, they say, is based on the hope that a straight-from-the-shoulder approach will succeed in forcing a quick yet friendly showdown where traditional hush-hush diplomacy might add to suspicion.

Recall Other Notes
These officials, who must remain unnamed, said critics of American foreign policy should remember that American notes protesting Russia's plans in Manchuria and Iran were preceded first by an indictment of Argentine action during the war and by a three-power denunciation of Franco's Spanish government for collaboration with the Axis.

Meanwhile, the state department:

1. Awaited Russian reaction to its note protesting the presence of Red army troops in Iran after the March 2 deadline for their withdrawal.
2. Weighed the effect of a likely Persian victory in Argentina's election.
3. Expected to disclose within 24 hours the contents of its note to Moscow laying down the United States position against a Chinese-reported Soviet plan to seize Japanese industry in Manchuria as "war booty" and to nationalize much of the territory's basic industry.
4. Pondered the next move in ousting Franco's regime in the face of a blunt Spanish declaration that foreign powers have no right to interfere with her internal affairs.

The new shop will open next fall. The structure will give Sutton and Lightner three to four times the floor space they now have and a complete line of ladies' apparel and accessories will be stocked.

Boost in Enrollment.

Special to The Star
DELAWARE, O., March 7.—Plans were announced today by President H. J. Burgstahler of Ohio Wesleyan university for expansion and remodeling of existing buildings at an estimated cost of $125,000 to provide adequate student housing for the fall semester. The group of projects is made necessary by increased enrollment of men students anticipated in September. Present enrollment taxed existing student housing.

Selby field, one of Ohio's prettiest football stadiums, will house 100 men, with dormitory and dining hall facilities being built on both sides of the stadium. Contract was awarded to E. J. Benes Co. of Cleveland, who will handle the $85,000 construction job.

The other major dormitory project includes the erection of quonset hut type buildings to provide housing for 100 men students. Five dormitory "huts" and one study will be located just south of Edwards gymnasium on the East campus. Kenneth Dickerson, Inc., Columbus is handling the installation.

Other plans in the housing program announced by Dr. Burgstahler include: remodeling of Murphy Hall, formerly a co-operative house for men, into six efficiency apartments. Perkins hall, a girls co-operative dormitory, is also being remodeled to accommodate 25 students. Rollin Rogers, Dayton architect, handled plans for these changes.

By JACK QUINN
BUDAPEST, Feb. 19.—(Delayed by Censorship).—Responsible American sources said today that "the Russians have ruined one American oil well" in the Láspe area fields in southwestern Hungary and that the total damages to date from the Russian operation of this American property amounted to roughly $25,000,000.

The sources, who asked to remain anonymous because of a deadline "not to get involved with the Russians," said another well on the American-owned Hungarian-American Oil Co. property is being ruined, and if the present method of operation is continued, it will be a matter of months before the pressure is down and the entire area damaged.

American sources said the Hungarian-American Co. based its damage estimate on the loss of oil and gas through Russian production methods, which some sources said leave 90 per cent of the potential yield in the ground—over a period of about one year. They asserted that although the Russians openly assumed control early in January, they have been actually in charge since they entered the area about a year ago.

In that time, the sources said, the 20 per cent—which is not lost through American production methods—has amounted to about 7,000,000 barrels, worth $15,000,000 at pre-war market prices. During the same period, the sources said, the Russians had been wasting enough gas daily to supply Budapest for a week. The informants said the company had planned to market this gas in Europe and estimated this loss at $10,000,000.

Long Lines Workers Win Pay
Boosts from $5 to $8 in "Pattern" Agreement.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 7.—Government intervention averted today's threatened nationwide telephone strike just 25 minutes before the 6 a. m. (E.S.T.) deadline.

Seventeen hours of unrelenting pressure by United States conciliation service officials led to agreement on "pattern" wage increases ranging from $5 to $8 weekly for more than 10,000 long lines employees.

The agreement came too late, however, to prevent walkouts in several cities, and picket lines were thrown up in Washington, Philadelphia and at several points in Ohio and Michigan. Baltimore operators struck last night but began to return to work shortly after 7 a. m.

The wage "pattern" was set in a contract between the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers signed at 3:30 a. m.

On the basis of the long lines settlement, the executive board of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, five minutes later ordered cancellation of the strike called by the long lines union and 18 other NFW affiliates. Thirty-four others had been expected by the union to observe picket lines.

Delay Unavoidable
Although the long-lines wage agreement reportedly was reached before midnight last night, Joseph A. Beltrame, NFWW president, was unable to issue the strike cancellation until many hours later because of the necessity for polling local unions by long-distance telephone.

Finally, 25 minutes ahead of the strike deadline, Beltrame was able to telegraph each of the 31 member unions of the NFWW the final word.

His telegram said an agreement "in respect to wages for affiliates has been reached" and that the member unions which had wage disputes with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. were "in general, in agreement with the settlement."

The new wage rates become effective as of last Feb. 1 and will remain in effect until March 6, 1947.

The long lines agreement provides for a wage increase averaging 17.6 cents an hour. Edgar L. Warren, chief of the federal conciliation service, said:

"The 'pattern,' which applies to other member unions of the NFWW, includes these provisions: A minimum of $5 and a maximum of $8 increase per week for plant craftsmen, outside maintenance and outside construction employees. A minimum of $5 and a maximum of $7 for traffic operating employees outside New York. A minimum of $5 and a maximum of $7 for clerical employees, message operators and central office helpers. A $5 'across the board' increase for caretakers, mechanics, house service employees, guards, dining service employees and the like. A maximum of $8 for accounting assistants, staff and technical employees."

TRUMAN TO NIP RAIL WALKOUT

President Expected To Name
Fact Finders To Probe
Strike Threat.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, March 7.—Postponement of a scheduled strike by Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers appeared likely today as it was announced in Washington President Truman would name an emergency fact-finding panel to study the workers' wage dispute.

Appointment of such a panel, in accordance with provisions of the Railway Labor Act, presumably would delay an actual walkout 30 to 60 days.

384 Unions Affected
President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announced yesterday a deadline of 6 a. m. next Monday for a progressive strike against 384 railroads and terminals.

Under the strike plan service would halt on 112 railroads Monday, on 85 Tuesday, 91 Wednesday and 96 Thursday.

On at least two occasions before the strike was announced Johnston indicated that in the event of government intervention, the Brotherhood would follow the government's lead.

Labor observers noted the Railway Labor Act empowers the National (Railway) Mediation Board to recommend to the President appointment of an emergency fact-finding board, which in 30 to 60 days would make recommendations. However, the board's findings would not be binding and the act does not specifically bar a strike during the period of the board's activity. Observers said the only alternative to appointment of an emergency fact-finding board would be for the government to take over the railroads.

The report also revived the atom bomb controversy touched off Monday by a special memorandum urging the United States not to be the first to use one in a new war.

Yesterday's general session referred the memorandum back to the council's executive committee for further study after approving only one paragraph calling for civilian rather than military control of atomic research.

Would Accuse U. S.

Today's proposed recommendations, however, would accuse the United States of "giving sanction to these weapons of mass annihilation" by their continued production.

The report also called for:

- 1.—The government to choose "competent delegates" to the United Nations council and "make its appointments known in sufficient time to permit adequate preparation for effective leadership."
- 2.—International reduction of armaments.
- 3.—An international bill of human rights.
- 4.—Recognition of the proposed loan to Great Britain as "the kind of practical assistance which is imperative for world order."
- 5.—Subordination of "national interest to a higher moral law and to the welfare of the whole family of God."

able dwellings will add another 8,000, the survey said.

This will leave the Buckeye state 57,000 units short and the backlog of house-seekers dissatisfied, the survey showed.

Perhaps most serious is the problem of how to house several hundred thousand returning veterans in a state that already has practically a minimum vacancy rate, the report said.

The commission's job is to recommend any needed legislation on housing to the next legislature.

The housing survey cited these as major problems:

1. How to meet the estimated potential deficit of 57,000 dwelling units.
2. How to reconcile building costs with families' ability to pay—especially serious in the case of veterans, most of whom cannot afford over $50 a month.
3. How to prevent dangerous inflation of real estate and home prices in the face of a continuing great demand for housing.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

GOD-GIVEN RIGHTS

Editor of The Star: Three letters from readers attracted my attention. Two letters from Glen Jeffries and one from Stanley Irwin Smith. The first letter from Jeffries states that through the workers' efforts and struggles, Marion became a better city. There were better homes, better surroundings. The inhabitants were discussing the sciences. The congressman of the district opposed all this, and by 1976, being an old man, was gently being led away to sit down and rest.

Stanley Irwin Smith warns us that the workers asking for a better living would only result in Marion being destroyed by atomic bombs of totalitarianism. Old man Jeffries being led off by the Gestapo.

Congressman Smith also believes that we are drifting toward regimentation. He does not believe in labor unions. If he does he hasn't said so. He states that the right to work is a God-given right. Also that, I can conceive of no greater wrong than one man can do to another than arbitrarily prevent him from working to produce the necessities to sustain his own life and that of his family.

What many of us want to know is this: Is this God-given right to work only to be had in time of a strike? In time of a depression? Or any time? Will the people receive less freedom when they ask for more bread? Why so many harsh statements about labor unions refusing to sell their labor? So little said about refusing to sell goods? Is it wrong for the producers of food or goods needed for the maintenance of life to organize for mutual benefit? Does it make a child less self-reliant when he receives an education paid for by the government? If not, why should it make a child less self-reliant when he receives a lunch paid for the government.

Russia Accepts Bid to Parley at Last

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Russia has belatedly accepted an invitation to send observers to the international monetary conference opening tomorrow at Savannah, Ga., the office of an American delegate reported today.

It was the Russians first show of interest in the meeting, although the Soviet signed the 1944 Bretton Woods pact and was a contributor to the international fund and bank to be set up at Savannah.

told the skipper that the Army and Navy didn't want his cargo.

He was ordered to dump all ammunition aboard at sea, which he did—an estimated $40,000 worth.

Gets Run Around

When Ulithi was "closed down," the Markham was ordered on to Saipan; and after eight days there, to Okinawa. After a few days there, it moved from Buckner bay around to Naha, capital city.

The skipper tried to find a motor valve for his small boat, but the "man in charge" of a Navy dump "pointed to a spot of ground and said, 'we had to get rid of that stuff, so we took a bulldozer, dug a hole, and dumped it in, then covered it up.'"

After Jan. 1, the Markham was sent to Luzon.

After eventually loading office equipment, "expensive sedans for generals" and furniture for the Tokyo Officers' club, the ship sailed for Japan, reaching Tokyo bay March 2.

Today the ship began to unload.

REPATRIATES JAM RUINS OF WARSAW

By The Associated Press
WARSAW, Poland—War-ravaged Warsaw's population has increased 300,000 in the last four months, and the steady tide of humanity continues to sweep into the capital.

The big influx of Polish repatriates from Soviet Russia and western European countries has given government officials a double-barreled headache. They explain they had trouble enough trying to find shelter for the 400,000 people already in Warsaw, but now with 300,000 more, their job of finding housing facilities borders upon the impossible.

Warsaw's pre-war population was 1,300,000. Officials believe that total again will be reached within six months if the present trend continues.

It is the government's plan to send most of the repatriates into Poland's new western territories and thus give Warsaw a better chance to rebuild while simultaneously developing the lands acquired from Germany. In the meantime, however, the government does have to try to find living space for the tens of thousands who have to stay in Warsaw for weeks or months before they move on.

Barber Making Fine Violins as Avocation

By The United Press
PITTSBURGH—Jim Calabrese of Glenfield, Pa., makes a living shaving whiskers, but he enjoys making violins as a hobby.

For about a decade, Jim known as the "Barber of Glenfield," has divided his work between the delicate tools with which he fashions violins, and the tools of his trade—the razor and shaving mug. In that time he has made 31 violins, two of which he has sold. Jim says he can hardly bear to part with one, as violin-making has been his ambition as long as he can remember.

But in America with six Calabrese children to feed and cloth, violin-making was not a profitable occupation. So for 27 years Jim shelved his dream, and concentrated on being a successful artist.

The last 10 years have seen his realization, though, and Jim is happy, even though getting the materials he uses is a tedious and expensive proposition. Each violin takes about four to five months to complete and even then the finished product is sometimes disappointing, but Jim says he'll keep on "trying to make the perfect violin." The backs of his violins are curly maple, and the tops, spruce.

Siberia is almost twice as large as continental United States.

TO ALL MARION CITIZENS

On February 27th, a draft of Marion's proposed new and improved school program was outlined to a group of Marion citizens at the Central Junior High School Auditorium. The report of this meeting was carried in the Star under date of February 28th.

Last Monday night the plan was further discussed by the Executive Planning Group and an additional number of citizens. The purpose of this meeting was to check for possible further improvement.

The proposed plan in its present form is the result of the best thinking of two nationally recognized school housing authorities, the Board of Education and two Committees of the Civic Planning Group.

It is felt that the program is now ready to submit to ALL INTERESTED MARION CITIZENS. A meeting for this purpose will be held at the Central Junior High School Auditorium Monday evening, March 11, at 7:30 P. M.

The purpose of this meeting is to present and discuss the entire program with the view of arriving at the finest school program possible for Marion.

Almost everyone agrees that our present school buildings are hopelessly out of date, inadequate and in several locations actually unsafe. This being the case, we must do something about it if we are fair to our children and expect Marion to progress. Therefore, the only remaining answer is to devise the best possible school building program and put it over.

This is an all-Marion project. Marion Citizens are urged to attend and present their constructive criticism and suggestions at the meeting in Central Junior High Auditorium Monday evening, March 11th.

If a satisfactory conclusion is arrived at during the meeting, it will then be determined whether or not the final program is to be submitted to the voters on May 7th.

This is an important meeting. It involves the welfare of our children and Marion's future. Please attend.

THE MARION CIVIC PLANNING GROUP

Martha Fabian, Secretary

Special to The Star
UPPER SANDUSKY, March 7.—Indications were today that the trial of George T. Currier of Columbus, indicted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, would continue into next week in the Wyandot county common pleas court.
Attorneys for the state and for the defense were arguing a technical point in the testimony today before the court in the absence of the jury. The jury was expected to be called back into the court room late today.
Character witnesses for the defense testified during Wednesday afternoon's session. They included Herman J. Engler, Edward W. Miller, Harold C. Gockenbach, Oscar F. Miller and William W. Wheaton, all of Exeter and Curtis C. Guthrie of Columbus.
Continuing their testimony Wednesday afternoon were state witnesses F. L. Vesey and A. E. Sheehy of the building and loan division of Ohio, examiners of accounts of the Fidelity Building Loan and Savings Co. of Columbus.
Currier is charged with making false statements in order to purchase stock in the Fidelity company from Carey residents for less than its true value.

Two in Same Family Involved in Mishap
Wednesday was an unlucky day for the Smith family of 481 Scranton avenue, both William F. Smith, 39, and his son Oliver F., 22, being involved in automobile accidents within less than two hours. Neither of the accidents resulted in injuries or serious property damage.
The younger Smith's car, police said, collided with a car driven by Bertha Stuffer of near Marion at Farming and Park streets at 3:10 p. m. The other accident occurred at 5:40 p. m. when William F. Smith and Herbert Phillips, 21, of 161 Wood street tried to pass each other on Bennett street. Cars parked opposite each other made the passageway too narrow, police said, causing a collision.

BUILDING COSTS HIT 25-YEAR HIGH

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 7—The commerce department reported yesterday construction costs and prices of construction materials had at the start of this year reached their highest levels in a quarter of a century.

A report by the department's construction division included these observations.

Steel—Sheet and strip, scarcest of all steel shapes, to continue in short supply through the first half of 1946.

Lumber—Both mill and distributors' stocks at a record low because of excess of demand over supply.

Mill work—Unfilled orders far exceed production which is hampered by shortages of manpower and materials.

Hardwood flooring—Unfilled orders in producers' hands equal to six to ten months' output at the present rate.

Brick (common and face)—Demand represents about 3 1/2 months' production at the present rate. Stocks at beginning of 1946 were at record low and were only 15 per cent of normal.

Structural clay tile—Stocks, after progressive decline since 1941, down to record low, or 12 per cent of normal.

Concrete building blocks—Unfilled orders more than double current production rate, but 1946 requirements can be met if sufficient manpower is available.

Ships Bear Names Of Ohio Cities, Counties

Thirty-three ships of the U. S. Navy which played a leading part in defeating the enemy on the sea in World War II were named for cities, counties and rivers in Ohio, according to a report released recently.

Among these was one named for a city from this area and three for counties. They were the Bucyrus Victory and Richland, two cargo ships, and the Wyandot and Union, two attack cargo ships.

Also included in this cruiser force were the heavy USS Columbus and Toledo, and the light cruisers Cincinnati, Cleveland, Youngstown, and Dayton. The Cleveland and Cincinnati operated in both the Atlantic and Pacific during the war. The latter was at Trinidad when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. The Dayton participated in the first attacks on the Japanese mainland and served as support vessel during the last months of the war against Japan. The attack transports and the attack cargo ships turned to "Magic Carpet" duty following the war, to return veterans to the States.

ver Jordan Sad Affair, Boyle Writes Wife

Column today is in an open letter to his wife in the United States.

HAL BOYLE
Newspaper Writer

March 7—Well, your old man has finally got Jordan, which is the most disheartening thing I've met in a long time. I've been in a good-sized creek, and I don't think I'll ever get out of it. I've been in a good-sized creek, and I don't think I'll ever get out of it. I've been in a good-sized creek, and I don't think I'll ever get out of it.

MISS TWO TREES

We stopped overnight at Basra on the Shatt Al Arab, date capital of the world. Iraq has 30 million date palm trees and I think we flew over all but two of them.

We flew and flew over Mesopotamia, which is a valley between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. Most history books agree it is "the cradle of civilization," the first place man climbed down out of trees—date trees I suppose—and began walking around on his hind legs and making wars.

All I can say is, it must have been a dusty cradle.

Air tourists don't have much fun. You can't stop when you want to. You can't stop when you want to. You can't stop when you want to.

But when they told us we soon would come to the river Jordan I got excited. After all, it was where the Lord was baptized. I expected to see something like the Mississippi, magnificently wide by crystal clear.

"There it is," called a crew member.

I looked down and there was a narrow, deserted little stream of water wandering back and forth as undecided as a woman in a department store. I believe you could almost jump it on a pogo stick. I haven't been so let down since I learned Santa Claus shaved. All that history wrapped around such a small holy trickle.

Jericho Is Gone

Then a British major next to me pointed over to the hills and said that was where Jericho used to be, where some long ago Harry James blew down the walls. All that is left is the hills and a new Jericho. Everybody in the plane got in an argument over who blew the trumpet. I never saw so many poor Bible students.

While we were still arguing, landed on the Dead Sea and had lunch in a health resort at Kallia. I was going swimming in the Dead Sea until somebody told me fish couldn't live in it so I gave up the idea on the grounds that if it wasn't good enough for an Irishman.

Just as dusk we plunked down in the Nile—and there's a river worth seeing, even without Cleopatra. I caught one glimpse of the pyramids, and tomorrow, if inflation hasn't run their price up, I'll buy you a nice stuffed mummy for a souvenir so you'll have somebody to talk to at breakfast while I'm reading the newspaper.

Your loving husband,
Hal Boyle

3-Cornered Flags Provided for Ship

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR — "Home-ward-bound" pennants in the ship's members. A blue star in a field of white, flown from the top of a mast, represents an officer aboard. In ships where the number of the crew is large, several pennants may be flown.

The USS Dickman recently went home. Sea-dogs of old may have winced had they seen her three-cornered "flag" flaring in the breeze, but Capt. F. A. Leamy and his men took it all in stride.

The Dickman even took a heavy squall in stride—not the squall signifying a tropical storm but the squall made by 16 babies.

Carrying 1,828 military personnel and 600 civilian passengers, the Dickman found many of the women had babies in the diaper-

Jess Turner's labor troubles

For four years Jess Turner ran his harness shop alone. But now his nephew's discharged from the Navy and is back to help him.

Right away, it seems that nephew Delbert has some new ideas. He wants more money, shorter hours—and meanwhile Jess' expenses have been going up!

So what does Jess do? He invites Delbert to sit down over a friendly glass of beer and talk the situation over. Jess figures he can give Delbert some extra dollars, and certain interests in the business; and Delbert figures how he can speed up production on harnesses—and do some saddle work, besides. And they seal the bargain with another friendly glass of beer.

Of course, all labor troubles aren't so simple. But from where I sit, if there could be more friendly discussion—more give and take—more tolerance and understanding—both sides would be a heap better off.

Registration Hits 1,500 at Ohio Wesleyan

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, March 7—Registration for the March semester at Ohio Wesleyan university approached the 1,500 mark on the first day, and with late arrivals the enrollment figure is expected to exceed the immediate pre-war total, Allen C. Conger, registrar, reported.

Classes opened Tuesday morning with the new semester continuing through June and ending with commencement exercises July 1. The enrollment is near capacity this semester and is expected to go to an even greater figure next fall, according to present indications. Registration for the fall semester for women students has been closed since early February, with more than double the number of coed applications that could be accepted having been received.

Six new faculty members were announced by President H. J. Burgstahler, at the start of the new semester. Among these is Dr. Clarence E. Ficken, who is newly appointed dean of the college. He has assumed his position, coming to Ohio Wesleyan from Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn.

The Germans fouled Allied mine detectors with nails and old scraps of metal.

British War Bride Is Reunited With Harpster Husband

Special to The Star
GALION, March 7—Mrs. Bessie Borg, British wife of Carl Borg of Harpster, an ex-serviceman, was reunited with her husband Monday when she arrived in Fostoria and was met there by him. This meeting followed a separation of almost seven months as the last time they were together was the day following V-J Day, which was Aug. 14.
Sailing from England, Feb. 19, she landed at New York Saturday morning aboard the Argentina. Residing in Manchester, England, Mrs. Borg before her marriage was Miss Bessie Dolman. She lived with her parents and one sister, Marie, and was employed in the engineering department of a factory there.
The couple was married July 7, 1935, in the St. Peter's church in Manchester. Mrs. Borg said she much enjoyed her trip to this country, but would have to become accustomed to what seems to her, the peculiar ways of the people here.
Carl Borg, a former corporal with the Air Service Corps and Ground Forces, received his discharge in December, 1945, following his return to the States from Europe. He entered the service in January, 1942, and went overseas in October of the same year. He was stationed in Weyington, England, during part of his service overseas.
Employed at the Marion Steam Shovel Co., Mr. Borg is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Borg of Harpster. He and his British wife plan to make their home in Marion in the near future.

Claridon, Magnetic Springs, Galion Get Set for Tournament Showdown

Marysville Is Eliminated at Westerville 43 to 37

Claridon To Take on Magnetic Saturday; Galion Set To Play Findlay in Kenton Meet.

By JIM DABBY

With the smoke of earlier elimination battles cleared, four teams each survive at the class A tournament at Delaware and Kenton and the class B at Westerville. The class A semi-final battles will be fought tomorrow night with finals Saturday while the Westerville tournament goes into finals Saturday.

It will be an all Franklin county fracas in the lower bracket at Westerville as the result of last night's 43 to 37 licking handed to Marysville by Grove City, Franklin county runnerup. Worthington, county leaders, came from behind to erase Bremen 38 to 28.

Still 6 Class B Teams Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 7.—The number of Ohio's unbeaten Class B high school basketball teams remained at six today after Northridge and New Knoxville triumphed over opponents in their respective district tournaments.

Northridge defeated Franklin 34-22 here, while at Celina, New Knoxville overcame Wapakoneta 34, Joseph, 26-25. Others undefeated are Atletos, Waynesburg, Copley and Strasburg.

point lead which Marysville was never able to overcome although they came within one point of doing so twice.

Kenton Pairings.
Lima South and Wapakoneta go into action tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at Kenton as the district class A tournament is resumed with the semi-finals. Lima South has conquered Crestline and Upper Sandusky while Wapakoneta has whipped Celina and Postoria.

Galion and Findlay are matched in the lower bracket semi-final scheduled to begin at 8:45. Galion has eliminated Kenton and St. Marys and the Findlay squad has taken care of Lima Central and Bucyrus.

Saturday night at 8 the semi-final winners will play the finals for the right to represent the district in the regional tournament. The Marysville cagers put up a stiff battle before succumbing to the Grove City quintet. The score was tied twice in the first period and Marysville enjoyed a 23 to 14 lead at half time. The Grove City cagers came back in the third quarter to go into a five

Connie Coaches Marion Boy

Getting a little coaching from Philadelphia Athletics pilot Connie Mack at West Palm Beach, Fla., is Jimmy Smith of Marion. Jimmy, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Smith of 671 Virginia avenue, "worked out" with the A's March 4.

The picture, taken by The Associated Press when his parents took him to visit the A's camp, was given nation-wide distribution. Mr. Smith, a member of the Knapp and Smith Insurance agency, took movies of Jimmy in his baseball uniform and cap with Bobo Newsom, Al Simmons, Buddy Rosar, and Sam Chapman. Pictures were also taken by other news services.

Jimmy, who attends Greenwood school, has been a rabid sports fan since the age of five. In his favorite, baseball, he is already something of an expert, being well posted on players, their batting and field averages and pitching records.

The family is vacationing at Lake Worth, Fla.

ROOKIE-RICH REDS HOPING FOR REPEAT

Cincy Prays 1938-40 Situation Will Hold True.

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 7.—The Cincinnati Reds are hoping history will repeat itself.

The Redlegs of 1946, still re-faced from their seventh-place showing last year, are in much the same position the team was before the 1938 season, after it had finished last in 1937, club officials believe.

The 1937 club was ripped apart and a rebuilding process was started with young, aggressive but untried players. The team rose to fourth place in 1938, then went on to win the pennant the next year and the world's championship in 1940.

The presence of many promising but untried rookies at the Reds' training camp here makes club officials think of those first championship days. The first base job still is a wide open scramble with Eddie Shokes, Bert Haas, Charlie Kress, Hank Sauer and Ted Kludzewski all battling for the position. Sauer and Kludzewski also are in the running for outfield posts.

Lonnie Frey, who was the unanimous choice of all National league managers for a place on the All-Star team before he entered the service, stands ready to hold down second base, and Eddie Miller, star shortstop, is on tap.

Manager Bill McKechnie says Rookie Grady Hatton Jr. may be the club's regular third baseman even though he has never played pro ball.

The Reds open their Grapefruit league season here Sunday with the Detroit Tigers.

"Stable" of Galion Fighters Aims at Golden Gloves Title

One of the biggest "stables" of out of town fighters signed appear in the Golden Gloves district AAU tournament Monday the aggregation from Galion High school.

Under the management of Charles Kinsey, nine boys have been training for the last two months. One, Kenneth Jones, 18, weighs 155 fought in last year's Golden Gloves tournament, getting into the semi-finals in the middleweight division. Two other experienced Galionites originally scheduled to fight this year have been drafted.

The boys range in weight from 107 to 178 and in class from freshman to junior. Mr. Kinsey calls the eight newcomers "good average fighters" and expects them to provide plenty of competition. He is banking on two of them.

Junior Black, 18, weight 125 and Leo Tuscan, 17, weight 135, reach at least the semi-finals. Among the ex-service-men booked for the bouts are Bill Krohmer, an ex-sailor of Marion who fought lightweight in Navy sponsored bouts at New Orleans and Boston, and J. E. Jones, also of Marion, who won four fights in Hawaii while serving there in the Seabees.

The bouts will be fought Monday, Wednesday and Friday, March 11, 13 and 15 at the armory. Tickets at $1.20 are still on sale at Market and Lewis and general admission tickets can be purchased from any member of the sponsoring Y's Men's Service club.

WALKER HOLDS OUT TOO LONG, LOSES JOB

Leo Says Rookie Has Dixie's Post Cinched.

By The Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 7.—Dixie Walker, veteran holdout of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has stayed at home so long he has lost his job as regular right fielder to Gene Hermanski, a strapping young fellow just out of the service, declares the Dodgers' quiet-spoken manager, Leo Durocher.

"I don't care if Dixie does sign his contract now," Leo murmured, his dulcet tones shaking the dugout roof at this training camp here. "He can't play right field on my ball club. He can't beat Hermanski out now."

Hermanski, who might well figure in the first authentic instance of a robust, but unknown, young serviceman beating an established star out of his job, hit .300 for the Dodgers in 18 games in 1943. By coincidence, that is exactly what Walker hit in 154 contests last year.

Their respective ages are: Walker 35, Hermanski 24.

3 CAGE GAMES SET FOR PROSPECT FRIDAY

Grand Prairie and Delaware to Provide Opposition.

Friday night, March 8 three basketball games will be played on the Prospect floor. Prospect junior high and freshman teams will play Grand Prairie junior high and freshman teams at 7 and 8 p. m. respectively.

At 9 p. m. the independent team sponsored by the J. D. Bain Hardware Co. will play the Delaware Alumni team. Feb. 27, this team defeated Prospect, after a hard fought battle at Delaware. The game Friday evening should prove very fast and entertaining. Proceeds from the games will go into the high school athletic fund.

Brains vs. Brawn Card on at Armory Tonight

Tonight's wrestling card at armory will provide a battle between roughness and cleverness as Indio Yaqui and Rufus J. battle it out in one of the 90-minute double main event. Renee LaBell and Whitley Ward in the second match should speed against cleverness. An amateur preliminary is scheduled 8:30 p. m.

SETS KENTON RECORD

KENTON, March 7.—Jim Ramsdell, senior on Kenton High school's basketball team set a record for scoring this year as he piled up 319 points in 18 games to break a record held since 1935 by his brother Dwight. He tied a record held by his brother of 35 points as high individual score in one game. Jim made 10 points against Carey.

Akron Ends Season With 69-40 Victory

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 7.—Another basketball season ended, the Akron university cagers relaxed today after a 69-40 defeat of Geneva college that gave the co-winners of the Ohio conference crown a record of 19 wins in 24 starts.

The Zippers tied with Wittenberg for the loop title. The Toledo Navy separation center practically chased Heidelberg's Student Princes off the hardwood last night at Tiffin as they romped to a 71-52 post-season victory.

Mexican Loop Bids $100,000 for Feller

By The Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, March 7 —
Bobby Feller, Cleveland's ace pitcher and one of the highest paid twirlers in organized baseball at a reported $40,000 a season, has been offered $300,000 to jump to the Mexican league for a three-year period, President Jorge Pasquel disclosed today. Feller would be paid $100,000 a season.
"That is nothing," smiled the head of the so-called "outlaw" league. Next season he said he hopes to get Hank Greenberg and Ted Williams, slugging outfielders for the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, respectively.
"I'm getting in touch with them right now," he told The Associated Press in an interview. He did not say how much he plans to offer Greenberg and Williams.
Neither did he say if Feller had replied to his offer.

Ohio's High Court
Sidesteps Question
of Tax-Exempt Dog

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 7 —
What is a hound dog worth when his owner has failed to pay taxes on him?
The supreme court, in a decision yesterday, specified no figure but declared a dog "whether listed for taxation or not" is a "thing of value."
A Wayne county jury convicted
Willard Weekly of grand larceny (theft of more than $35 value) for stealing Everett Etzweiler's red tick hound.
Weekly appealed the case, claiming that since Etzweiler had not paid taxes on the dog it could not be considered of value.
The appellate court disagreed with his reasoning but reversed the conviction on grounds the jury had failed to specify a definite value for the animal.
The supreme court upheld the appellate court's decision.
Weekly faces retrial.

Skate King Fears Famine in Winter Athletes

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
NEW YORK — Irving Jaffee, only American ever to win three winter sports Olympic titles, fears a famine in United States skaters, skiers, and other ice and snow performers when international competition returns to the headlines in 1948.
Jaffee, the greatest long-distance skater of all time, Irving has a right to speak his mind about his sport. He has been much concerned with the art of flying over the ice for 20 years, in fact, ever since he was 13 years old. So let's tilt an ear in his direction.
"The fans don't realize it," says
Irving, "but we have lost practically all of our top winter stars.
The skiers and the skaters were the first to go when war hit us.
And we haven't developed any new ones in four years!"
"Remember when practically every small town in the snow country held ice carnivals? There was a tremendous craze for winter sports. Well, since 1942, they've all been forgotten. Equip-

IRVING JAFFEE
Skate King in His Prime

"When you stop to think about it, though, it's amazing that we won the last Olympic winter crown. Americans have never been considered authorities on the blades and staves. It was a case of the people being better than the teachers — Norwegians and Finns—in 1936.
"It's been a long time since our great athletes had a chance to compete against others all over the world, and many of them have been lost in the war effort.
We'll see a lot of new faces. But the same probably will be true of other countries."
Jaffee served three and one-half years in the Coast Guard and came out of service about 30 pounds heavier.
"Of course my competitive days are over," he smiles, "but I've written so many stories, made so many movies and broadcasts on skating, that I can't think of anything else. All I hope is that I can help more of our boys and girls become champs on the ice."
For the record, Irving won his first Olympic title when he was
19. He fell in love with skating long before that, however, and he often tells about how he sold newspapers to buy his first pair of steel runners, and swept the ice on local rinks to earn his announcement to them.
"Most skaters reach their majority when they are around 30," smiles Jaffee, "and I'm 33. No matter how you skate, it all depends on your leg muscles. When they sag, there isn't anything you can do about it."

C. OF C. BOARD ACTS ON HOSPITAL PLAN

Action Taken To Urge State To Build Institution Here.

Chamber of Commerce directors, at a meeting in Hotel Harding Wednesday voted to encourage the executive committee to continue cooperation with Gov. Frank Lausche and State Welfare Director Frazier Reams in the establishment of a permanent state hospital for the mentally ill in the Scioto Ordnance Plant area.

In a letter to Louis E. Michel, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Reams recently affirmed that the welfare department had plans to take over the administration area buildings at the Scioto plant site as a temporary hospital to relieve a crowded condition in its present buildings. The letter added that it was the intention of the department to seek the purchase of another tract north of the administration area which would give it a total of more than 1,200 acres of land for a permanent installation. No new developments in the project have arisen since the Reams' letter was received.

Also during their meeting directors resolved that an application should be made for an associate membership in the national association of Better Business Bureaus. The application now is being prepared and will be sent to national headquarters. John Gillis is chairman of the Chamber's better business committee.

Urges Prompt Action on Personal Taxes

Unless there is a marked increase in the number of personal property tax returns filed within the next couple of weeks, tax payers will have to stand in line to get their returns in before the deadline, County Auditor Harry V. Mounts said today.

Only 536 of the approximately 3,300 returns have been filed so far, the county auditor pointed out. Deadline for filing returns is March 31. Half of the tax must be paid at the time returns are filed and the balance is due Sept. 20.

The tax forms, mailed to county tax payers on Feb. 18, call for payment of all personal taxable property for 1946, including tangible and intangible property.

Mr. Churchill's Old Story

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S speech at Fulton, Mo., is getting more attention than the speaker could have expected when he wrote the speech.

Events of the last few days have combined to turn a blinding spotlight on the former prime minister's blunt belief that Great Britain and the United States must stay with Russia if possible, but in any event must stay together. It is suddenly becoming clear to Americans that Russian friendship is neither to be had for the asking nor the appeasing; that Communism respects no rights it can destroy; that the direction Russia is taking must lead inevitably to conflict over the issue of aggression.

These are the things Mr. Churchill has chosen to talk about on his trip to Fulton with President Truman. From his point of view, there was nothing new about them; he was talking about them in Britain before the war when he was a voice in the wilderness of British politics. He was alert then as he is now to dangers of all kinds of dictatorship. He warned against the encroachments of Hitlerism and despised Mussolini, but he warned also against the encroachments of Communism. Mr. Churchill was not taken in by the label on the dictatorship battle. He analyzed its contents.

Again, he is a voice in the wilderness of British politics. It may be claimed but cannot be proved that he reflects the attitude of Britain's Labor government in his plea for alliance between Britain and the United States. He is, after all, only the leader of the opposition at home, not a spokesman for the government party. Tremendous tides are running in British politics, as they are running in American politics. But when Mr. Churchill sees Britain and American standing together for common principles, he is not thinking so much of politics as principles.

Every chance should be given to the United Nations Organization to reconcile clashes between the aims of sovereign governments, he believes. War is not inevitable, nor is it imminent. But if Russia persists in behaving like a proselyte instead of a tolerant neighbor, there must be a clash sooner or later. The clash should find the United States and Great Britain together. That is Mr. Churchill's thesis.

Critics will charge that Mr. Churchill is arguing for the money subsidy which this government proposes to grant the British. They will argue that the United States is being invited to pull British chestnuts from the fire. They will say that we are being dragged into the complications of holding together the sagging British empire. They will accuse Mr. Churchill of hostility to Russia and of a plot to entice the United States into balance-of-power politics. And the critics will be right.

Mr. Churchill's realism is obvious. Nothing is hidden. Nothing is new. The only new fact on the horizon of international relations is that the United States is about to experiment with realism itself. In the course of the experiment, it is going to try to do something more tangible about its security than adoption of resolutions and continuation of its support for UNO, which can succeed only if the threats driving the United States and Britain together are withdrawn.

Is Ax-Grinding a Public Crime?

DISCUSSION of the St. Lawrence seaway project has been cursed from the beginning by name-calling. Both sides have been guilty. The rest of us, caught in a cross-fire of invective, have ample reason to wonder if it might not be a good idea to let the combatants cool off until they know how to behave.

This is a project to change the economic patterns of a number of communities and areas in the United States. Those who are backing it most aggressively all have separate axes to grind. Each of them sees a concrete advantage if the project carries through. There are potentially billions of dollars at stake.

Yet, these same ax-grinding interests, whenever they are confronted by the spokesmen for other ax-grinding interests who like the economic patterns just the way they are, invariably scream, "Foul!" and beseech the public for a fair decision. They accuse the opposition of being narrow and selfish. They charge that its methods are underhanded, vicious and contrary to the public interest.

The St. Lawrence project would be a lot easier to follow with a modicum of sympathetic interest if the people who believe in it would spend less time trying to make the public believe that ax-grinding is a public crime only when the other fellow does it. Gentlemen, your own axes are showing.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Business Tells Same Story of Control Confusion.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 7

I have concluded a five week trip touching closely half a dozen southeastern cities in which I talked with 300 business people and found everywhere the same story, to wit:

Business affairs are in a low, confusing, mazy, or at most men described them "a hell of a mess," (using the term not as an expletive but in its most accurate sense.)

Unanimously, these people blamed their troubles on government interference. The rules and regulations of OPA and other government agencies, they said, were the primary cause, and strikes and labor unrest, including slow-downs and disinclination of workers to produce, were secondary elements. But they attributed the labor condition to government mismanagement as well as the regulations, so they traced all their economic ills to the single source—government.

They seemed almost unanimous also in what they want done. Merchant, lawyer, builder, banker, broker and all the rest want the government to get out of the regulation business entirely, take the lid off, remove OPA restrictions, price controls, priorities, and let the forces in our economic system find their own free way.

Reasonable Argument

A reasonable argument for this course was presented. What the nation needs is production, they said. This, we are not getting. They tell stories of how price ceilings are holding back both the manufacture and circulation of goods and absolutely true tales of black market earning fabulous figures beyond taxation in every city, town and at every cross roads. A representative number of these I have told in previous columns on my journeys. If the lid is removed we will get production swiftly, they say. A flurry of prices upward could be expected but this would gradually ease down, they contend, as competition is restored by free productive activity.

Unquestionably a wide popular surge for this course has arisen and soon will be evident in congress—where it could be carried into effect despite the wishes and plans of the new Truman-Bowles management. All congress would be required to do is to kill the war powers acts which will expire June 30 unless renewed. (Some business people wanted the acts killed by an open early vote to allow a few months of continuing operations under wartime regulations as a preparatory period in which adjustments could be planned; and others said that if congress does temporarily renew the war powers of the President an early expiration date should be fixed, say perhaps in the fall for dropping the whole scheme.)

This I judge is practically the desire of the country, in complete contradiction of Washington plans and opinions.

I must confess I could not bring myself wholly to accept these conclusions. A more reasonable course would seem to me to be to work out a compromise between the government position and the yearnings of business—right now.

All Special Cases

Generalized, total action one way or another is not called for, in my opinion, because the condition is not alike in all two lines. In some industrial phases, where price ceilings are restraining production, the ceilings should be lifted to the point necessary to inspire production—but no further, until competition is restored, and then all price regulation should be entirely abandoned. If a great bulk of men's shorts are in storage and wholly absent from the retail trade because the price ceiling makes their sale unprofitable the ceiling should be lifted to the point necessary to get the goods out. If the lumber price in communities is so low that the black markets in the big cities absorb the supply, the OPA should break the local price or the black market, or both, and meet the situation. In short, each situation needs just adjustment immediately and this could be done by administrative action now. (For another not unrelated example, there is absolutely no reason why production in this country should be allowed to decline, as it is declining in the face of desperate need and increased Canadian production.)

If Messrs. Truman and Bowles pitch into this maze of mess and straighten it out, removing the destructive nature of the controls, the objections to their would-be ministrations and competition could be restored. We could get production and distribution that way also. If they do not, they are running a chance of losing their whole management of economic affairs. (Revised Features Syndicate, Inc.) Arms Alliance from U. S. View

By Walter Lippmann

WINSTON CHURCHILL believes that a settlement with the Soviet Union is possible only if we deal with her by uniting America with Britain to form a combined power throughout the world.

There is nothing, he says, that "our Russian friends and allies admire so much as strength, and there is nothing for which they have less respect than for military weakness." By combining our power we would, he argues, "possess so formidable a superiority as to make a formidable deterrent" against "the indefinite expansion of their power and doctrines."

If we do this, this is to say, if we hold the Russians in check by presenting them with a combined Anglo-American front, the United Nations will have a chance to develop.

This is Mr. Churchill's thesis. It over there was a man who had earned the right to be listened to with the utmost seriousness. It is Winston Churchill talking on the basic issues of war and peace. He will be listened to, and his speech may well mark the beginning of one of the great debates of modern times.

The speech itself, however, received in this country as an incomplete statement, in that Mr. Churchill did not examine the problem, as Americans are compelled to see it, of forming a united British-American front. That is an enormous problem, and it is not solved by dwelling exclusively on the Russian expansion.

Mr. Churchill has in fact stated only the reasons why such a combination would effectively reinforce the British position. But he has not examined the problem of American participation in the combination he advocates and, indeed, he avoided examining it.

Essence of Problem

The essence of the problem is in the obscure and complex relation between the British commonwealth and the British Empire. A close reading of Mr. Churchill's speech will show that he did not face this problem, and that he has assumed that Americans will somehow fall to face it.

Thus he points to our "permanent defense agreement with the Dominion of Canada" and proposes that the principle be extended to all the British commonwealths with full reciprocity. There would be no difficulty about that: the United States could make permanent defense agreements with Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Eire. But that is not what Mr. Churchill really had in mind in his speech. He wants the same principle extended to the United Kingdom and to the dependent empire which it governs.

Now the general principle of the Canadian agreement could be extended to the defense of the British Isles. The real problem, however, for America, and as regards British and American relations with Russia, is not concerned with the defense of the English-speaking commonwealths. It is not concerned with those British nations with whom we have "the joint inheritance" of Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights, the habeas corpus, trial by jury and the English common law. The real problem is concerned with those countries, either under British rule or within the British sphere of influence, which are not English-speaking countries and do not have this joint inheritance of freedom. That is where the trouble and the danger are, and that is where the conflict with Russia is, in considerable part, though not exclusively, located.

Aggressive

It may be that the Soviets will become so aggressive that the American feeling about the empire will become a negligible consideration. But if we are still reluctant to make a peace, and are not merely preparing for war, then these considerations cannot be neglected if there is to be a constructive development of Anglo-American relations.

As long as we are still trying to make peace, a united front in the empire would not only be unattractive to most Americans but would be regarded by many as a necessary evil, a necessary and ineffective policy. For a united front in that part of the world could not be the kind of equal partnership that exists in our relations with Canada.

In the region from, say Malta to Hong Kong, the united front would be directed by Britain. No amount of consultation could overcome the fact that the initiative and the administration would be British, and that only the responsibility in case of trouble would be joint.

That is not a workable arrangement to propose to a people so deeply imbued as the American with the tradition and the conviction that empire is a best a necessary evil to be liquidated as soon as possible.

But the difficulty is not only in persuading Americans to accept such an arrangement. There is a further difficulty, so it will seem to many in this country and particularly to those who have proved their friendship for Britain. It is the belief that a united front in the region of empire will weaken, not strengthen, the western world in the contest of influence with the Soviet Union. For in a united front against Russia in Asia, this country would be incapable of differentiating its own position from that of the European empires in Asia.

Their Connection

Yet it is precisely because the United States is neither a totalitarian state nor a colonial power that it can hope to retain an influence in keeping the Asiatic peoples in good relations with the western world.

The connection between the white man and the Asiatic peoples is very thin, indeed, and surely we must put high among our objectives that this connection should not be broken. That is the inner reason why we have remained so persistently the friend of China, and that is why we cannot, why we dare not, in the interest of the civilization which Mr. Churchill is defending, lose our own identity in Asia by merging ourselves with the British Empire. As long as there remains any hope of peace, any hope that the contest with Russia is to be waged by influence and not by arms,

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, March 7, 1936. Farm leaders praised the "Ohio Plan" of soil benefit payments and predicted its possible general adoption in 1937 or 1938. The system, its supporters said, would pay on the basis of soil improvement rather than any crop withdrawal idea.

Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Ashley were married in the gold-leafed marriage salon of the Eighth ward city hall in Paris. Rural and consolidated school problems were discussed by approximately 40 members of boards of education from Marion, Delaware, Crawford, Wyandot, Morrow and Union counties in the common pleas courtroom here.

The A. R. C. club entertained with a dance at Schwiniger's hall. A grand march was led by Miss Betty Peltz, president of the club, and James Todd. Miss Mavette Carliss and Mark McKirtick chaperoned the party.

Carlos M. Hatcher, formerly a member of The Star's advertising force and later connected with the Mansfield News-Journal, left for Omaha, Neb., where he had accepted a position with the Omaha World-Herald, after a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hatcher of Congress street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, March 7, 1926. Dr. Marion Humphreys of Omaha spoke at Forest Lawn Presbyterian church in the morning and conducted a symposium service in the evening.

Miss Rhea Thompson, daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. James W. Thompson, was united in marriage to Paul W. Ellis in a ceremony performed at their home on West Church street by Rev. George E. Groves, pastor of the Central Christian church.

Millard Baldwin, head of the service department of a Marion motor sales agency, left for Racine, Wis., to attend an instructional school for mechanics.

Misses Alma Fetter, Lucille Jans, Ethel McKinley and Dorothy Plock were hostesses for a Business Women's club tea in the club rooms on East Center street.

we must maintain our separate influence.

Military Unity Destructive

To take this view of the empire is not to oppose—quite the contrary—a military agreement with the free nations of the British Commonwealth. Nor does it mean that the United States will not have to draw a line beyond which Russian expansion cannot be permitted to go. But it does mean that we shall not commit ourselves to holding the line of the status quo by making our military power the reserve of the British military power.

The line of the British imperial interest and the line of American vital interest are not to be regarded as identical. There is a margin of difference within which there is room for adjustment—for example, at the Dardanelles. Moreover, it ought to be said—though this calls for greater elaboration as the discussion proceeds—that the deficiencies of British power cannot be made up entirely by the United States. London should not look only to Washington. The same is true of France. Paris should not look only to Washington. They should also look to each other, and they should ask themselves whether the position in which Britain and France find themselves does not call for a revival of the project of a Franco-British union.

The Petroleum Miracle

By Raymond Moley

OUR newest columnist, Harold Ickes, told us, "way back in the days when he was petroleum administrator that the war was consuming so much oil that in 15 years we would be at the bottom of our national barrel. This made a big noise, and gloomy economists broke out in sad howling."

Now, however, comes a different story from the Committee on Petroleum Reserves of the American Petroleum Institute. Their report says that in 1939 our "estimated proved reserves" were 19 billion barrels and that at the end of the current year they will be almost 21 billion barrels. Thus, despite the inroads of the war, our known resources have increased 14 per cent.

A second surprising fact in the report is that wartime consumption was considerably less than was anticipated. In normal years, we consume 1.3 billion barrels. During the war we consumed an annual average of 1.54 billion barrels. Thus, the extra war demand in four years consumed only about a nine months' normal consumption.

In 1924, the statistician of the Bank of France solemnly told his country that the oil reserves of the United States would be gone in seven years and that those of the world would last only 40 years. Since then, we have almost doubled our annual consumption of oil. And in every year except 1943—the year of Mr. Ickes' direful prediction—we have increased our reserves.

The Committee on Petroleum Reserves points out that today's known oil can be recovered only over a period of many years and at very gradually declining annual rates. If all discoveries of new fields and all expansion of old fields were stopped now, we would, nevertheless, have enough for over 16 years. However, the exploration of tide lands, probably reveal along the Pacific Coast very large new supplies. It is an interesting fact that Mr. Truman has inadvertently provided the country with a valuable education in the importance of these possible resources by nominating Mr. Pauley. In that respect, the Pauley case is a net gain for the nation.

Thus, the worries suggested by Mr. Ickes about oil may be postponed for nearly a century. Long before oilless days come to us, we shall have other sources of energy. Perhaps atomic power. Probably new forms of alcoholic derivatives. And always coal.

Sale of Town

While millions of Americans are out for just a spot to "bang the hat," thousands of others in the nation are interested in buying a town. Jim Ogletree, Columbus, Ga., realtor, discovered recently.

Ogletree reported that he had scarcely any time for anything else but answering the telephone and opening telegrams, since he advertised that Hannan, Ala., was for sale.

The realtor finally closed the deal, convinced, he said, that nearly everyone in the United States must want to buy a town. The buyer he reported, was H. L. Bass, of Elberton, Ga., a bus operator, who got the whole "caboodle" for $6,500. The new owner reported he will sell his son-in-law, Lt. H. M. Knight of the US Marine Corps as mayor and postmaster.

UNO and the Ice Skaters

IT NOW develops that if UNO takes City's Center Theater for any part of quarters it will have to take over an orchestra of 24 musicians, 34 stagehands, and six-ice attendants, all under contract. Sonja Henie to continue there for a year, understand UNO is willing, if it can get Henie.

The weekly payroll at the theater is $37,000. More money for a world organization. The possession of an orchestra and 92 figure skaters is regarded as a barrier to UNO taking the place, but we can't see why. Careful study of all the doings at the UNO sessions so far have convinced us that something is lacking. It may be music. And it could be ice skaters.

There have been no figure skaters at UNO meetings to date, although the boys have been on thin ice most of the time. Mrs. Roosevelt's horn on rollers a couple of times ago, we understand that Jim Byrnes wanted to appear on the skates and leap over six barrels, but the question arose as to whose barrels would leap over.

Joe Stalin said Russian barrels were out, positively. England's barrel policy was obscure.

Plenty of small nations had barrels but they were wearing them.

Mr. Byrnes felt that for him to zoom over skates and leap over the barrels would not be entertaining but would provide at least 10 minutes when Bevin and Vishinsky could argue.

Anyhow Russia finally exercised her power over figure skating (except Russian) as the idea got nowhere.

But in New York things might be different. There has always been ice skating in Center Theater. Skating is in the air there. If UNO meets there it may absorb the spirit of figure skating. It might put everybody in a friendly mood if the delegates all appeared on skates.

Some beautiful ice ballet numbers might help the cause.

The 24 musicians could be used. There could be a medley of national anthems (Russia permitting the others) to open each session, followed by "Where Do We Go From Here?" Small nations might want "All I Want Is Swaypathy" and the Toreador song could be played during the bull sessions. And from time to time such numbers as "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "His Love That Makes The World Go 'Round," "Old Joe," "My Heart Belongs to Prudence," "The Roundabout Song from Molestation" and Yalta's "Lapse of Memory Suite."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: We had a real interesting afternoon that I want to tell you about. Elmer Aikens, younger boy, Fred, was a bomber pilot in England during the war and married one of those English girls whose pictures were being seen in the paper. They came home yesterday and this morning they walked over here. Fred wanted her to see some of the more interesting natives, I guess.

Her name is Lola and she does credit to England. As far as that's concerned, Fred does credit to it. It's a standstill. Well, she said that Fred can't get hold of a car he likes, and his father never owned one, so what was more natural than for me to offer them our car to inspect the surrounding territory? Except that as it turned out, your aunt and I were asked to go along as guides, and I am glad we did.

I was interested in this girl's reactions to something she never had seen before. She had been in one of those little English villages near Boston during the war and married one of those English girls whose pictures were being seen in the paper. They came home yesterday and this morning they walked over here. Fred wanted her to see some of the more interesting natives, I guess.

Lola couldn't understand why with such beautiful material to work with we didn't manage to make it look more like we appreciated what nature had given us. That's what I have been hammering at for years. She must be a pretty smart girl. For instance, she objected to the clutter of roadside signs, most of them in bad repair and none of them anything to boast about. She said that with the exception of the big barns—bigger than any she ever saw—and some of the houses that seemed to belong to the landscape, it looked to her as if a lot of people were just living in temporary quarters.

She said that was the way the few towns she had a chance to see from the train looked to her. Too New York, of course, was something new, but then there is nothing like New York anywhere else in the world. Naturally, she had put in a good word for our place, because I do say myself I keep looking for it. But she said that the country around here is a good deal like it is at home, but there was one difference. In fairness to her, she didn't mention this right away, but it came out afterward while we were having a bite to eat at the Aikens.

County Maps $14,500 Highway Maintenance Program for 1946

Marion county's 1946 road construction and repair program has been taken with county commissioners' approval of a reconstruction project on the Marion-Williamsport road in the township.

The road, officially designated as county road No. 162, will be widened from the 40 feet used at present to 50 feet, and an additional 10 inches of compacted gravel will be laid. County engineers estimate the cost at $14,500. Bids for material and labor will be received until 10 a. m. and actual work will start about March 15. The project will close the road for a week and a half. The new ditches constructed, mail boxes and driveway approaches also will be rebuilt.

County engineers hope that the project will be completed in time for them to give the road a top dressing of fine stone and tar, a process known as "drag treatment," during the summer. When the road is completed it will be about six inches higher than at present. Drag treating the road will cost an additional $3,500, engineers estimate.

The project is the first large job of its kind this year, but engineers are working on plans to repair and resurface other county roads during their summer program.

Junior Red Cross Lays Stress On International Cooperation

International cooperation through international interests at an early age is one of the outstanding features of the peacetime features of the American Junior Red Cross, Mrs. J. H. Harmon, Junior Red Cross chairman, said today.

Children in Marion county are getting acquainted with children in other lands through the exchange of correspondence albums describing community activities, the chairman said.

In addition, Mrs. Harmon pointed out, through their contributions to the National Children's Fund children of Marion have taken part in a national Junior Red Cross project for sending 30,000 cases of basic school and health supplies to children of Europe and the Philippines, as well as $64,000 tables to fill a special request from Yugoslavia.

Wesleyan Observes 104th Anniversary at Special Service

DELAWARE, O., March 7 — Ohio Wesleyan observed its 104th anniversary of "Founders' Day" at special chapel services which opened the new March semester.

"I prefer to look on the present period as an era of better human relations rather than an atomic age," Dr. H. J. Burgstahler said in his "Founders' Day" message to the student body of over 1,500, largest Ohio Wesleyan enrollment in over a decade. This includes over 150 former students returned from military service who registered for the new semester.

"Education is one of our present day 'short' commodities—like cars and nylon—everybody wants it! Ohio Wesleyan has a long waiting list of students who want college educations," Dr. Burgstahler said. "However, we have to better understand how to use these college educations if we are to make this a period of better human relations," he concluded.

The local members devoted part of their time collecting articles for men in service in camps and hospitals. Articles shipped included 136 games, 16 books, 207 coast hangers, 248 decks of playing cards, 185 puzzles, 124 joke books, 10 crossword puzzle books and 12 Scott's scrapbooks. Also 101 ash trays made by the boys in their Industrial Arts classes, and 15 pairs of bedroom slippers made by Home Economics classes.

Conservation was stressed and the members took part in all salvage conservation work. Wax paper, tin cans and milkweed drives. Magazines were taken to the local canteen for distribution to the service men. Red Cross Courses in First Aid and Home Nursing have been conducted in our local high schools and the Junior Red Cross has assisted in the fund raising campaigns by packing and distributing campaign materials.

Mrs. Harmon states that the major emphasis of peacetime service of Junior Red Cross will be placed on all programs designed to improve international relations and to promote better citizenship. To strive through planned activities to make our junior members conscious of service to the community and better equipped young people for their lives as citizens of tomorrow.

The work of the Junior Red Cross is financed through contributions made annually to the National Red Cross fund campaign now being held in Marion and communities throughout the nation.

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, hemorrhoids, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.
